

PRESS RELEASE

ANT strengthens team and opens pioneering after sales department

Customers set to receive even greater service and support

Advanced New Technologies Ltd \(ANT\) has taken another pioneering step forward, opening a dedicated after sales department that will give discerning clients an even greater level of support and care.

Recognised globally for its innovation and ability to satisfy even the most demanding and creative of projects, ANT has added to its team of specialist professionals, appointing Martin Dickson, formerly of Reeds and Nitec as the new ANT After Sales Manager.

Martin will be in charge of spearheading ANT's unique after sales programme, working with all clients to ensure that ANT's first class back-up is carried out with even more in-depth focus and client-centered support.

Martin Dickson, After Sales Manager, ANT

“ANT constantly ensures that manufacturing and installation standards are adhered to at all times,” comments Paul Cook, ANT. “The new after sales department will enhance our service levels even further, proactively dealing with all post-sale elements such as maintenance and technical support in order to meet and exceed our clients' expectations and deliver the very best overall service. We are delighted to have a professional of Martin's calibre join the team.”

More...

Page 2 / ANT strengthens team and opens pioneering after sales department

*Howard Fagelman,
Project Manager, ANT*

In addition to the opening of the new after sales department, ANT has also bolstered its technical team, welcoming Howard Fagelman on board. Howard has spent over 25 years in the audio visual industry, working for companies including Universal AV Services and Accurate AV.

Throughout his career Howard has worked with, and been surrounded by ANT related systems and environments, giving him valuable knowledge of the company's technical applications and first-class standards. His expertise spans hi-tech installation and integration of AV equipment in a variety of specialist arenas including, marine, higher education, public sector and challenging commercial markets. Howard joins the ANT team immediately, taking the role of Project Manager.

The new ANT after sales department will be accessible for all existing and new ANT customers, officially opening its doors this month.

-Ends-

About ANT:

Advanced New Technologies Ltd (ANT) has over 22 years expertise helping design, specify, install, and support technology-based entertainment, automation, IT, security, navigation and communications systems to shipyards, yacht owners, and property developers.

Each system is tailored to meet custom specifications, providing clients with unparalleled service and support throughout the entire design, build and maintenance phases. The company offers a worldwide service from its UK offices, as well as through its centres in Holland, France and Germany.

For more information visit Advanced New Technologies website at www.a-n-t.net or call on +44 (0) 870 873 9700.

More...

Page 3 / ANT strengthens team and opens pioneering after sales department

For more press information please contact Paul Cook at Advanced New Technologies Ltd, Tel Mob: +44 7785 246 468 or email: paul.cook@a-n-t.net; or Peter Ramsay/Sophie Quartley at ADPR Ltd, Tel 01460 241641, or peter@adpr.co.uk / sophie@adpr.co.uk

PR07 February 2010